What goes in the box

scribble from the packing table

One edible thing to grow each month. Seeds, whatever growing medium that project needs, and a card you can leave next to the pot. First box idea is pea shoots.

who we keep picturing

Someone with one decent window, very little counter space, and a takeout tub they have been meaning to reuse. Tell them how much room and light it takes before they order.

copy that sounds like us

Give it your brightest window. If the shoots start leaning, turn the tub.

margin note on the insert

Please cut “plant babies.” Also cut “foolproof.” If the seeds stall, give people one thing to check before they start over.

possible line for the lid

One small thing to grow.

Box 01 / pea shoots / tub from home?

Ink, stamp, camera roll

packet cream
#F2E8D5

soil brown
#322B23

pea green
#687853

tomato red
#BD4937

printer note

Cream for paper, brown for instructions, green for the stamp. Red for small marks like the box number or a circle around a date. Green looks darker on kraft. Keep the swatch above as the reference.

HALF ACRE CLUB

stamp sketch / try without the border

plain sans for the planting card

pics to pull from the phone

Open box with the flap in the way. Day six on the sill, tape date on the tub. Kitchen scissors and a handful of shoots under the yellow overhead light.

Keep the leaning stems and the dirt on the counter. A soft frame is fine if you can still tell what is growing. Let the actual kitchen light show.
